

September 27, 1950.

Dr. Winston Price,
Dept. Bacteriology,
University of California,
Berkeley 4, Calif.

Dear Win-

We determine lactase in E. coli with o-nitrophenyl galactoside, measuring free o-nitrophenol colorimetrically at 4200 Å. I have a paper coming out very shortly in J. Bact. Also Roger has a trace of the ONPG substrate. But I think that a manometric assay of adaptive enzyme formation might be at least as suitable, certainly more versatile.

Sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg